TRAVIS AT FOX HILLS TO BREAK A CORNER IN HAZARDS.

Inspects Course for the Green Committee, with a Foursome on the Side-Forest Hill Players Start Their Season-Marine and Field Mowers Working,

There was only informal play at the Richmond County Country Club yesterday, but a good muster of the regular and associate members were on the picturesque course for their first drives of the season. At the nearby course of the Fox Hills Golf Club the opening class A and B weekly handicaps brought out thirty or more contestants, but wild shots due to lack of condition spoiled so many scores that only fifteen made returns. Walter J. Travis was the special guest of the green committee, and with its chairman, Frank Sears, he opposed Arthur McAleenan and J. A. Janin in a foursome. Travis and Sears were the winners, some said, by 2 up and 1 to play, but the zest of competition was only second with all hands to the consideration of the new hazards to be put in.

At the club's annual dinner last winter there was a general agreement that a numbe of side traps would improve the play, and in response to a suggestion that individuals should volunteer to pay the cost of such trans. to be named after the donors, a new variation of the commemorative tablet idea, there were so many to offer to defray the outlay for one of the bunkers that the green committee was in somewhat of a dilemma. To build all the sand traps offered would have honeycombed the course with hazards and as all the King's horses and all the King's men cannot quickly restore a course that has been overbunkered, the green committee turned to Travis in its plight. The foursome, as a consequence, was literally a standing comttee of ways and means on every hole and its progress a slow one. Chairman Sears is to prepare a report to embody the suggestions made by Travis, on which the work will be forthwith started by the greenkeeper.

In the handicap, as one player may not take two prizes, Hoople won the grass and Walser the net in class A., while in class B the Pogsor family divided. The summary:

Class A.—W. G. Hoople, 67, 6-62; H. Walser, 6, 6-87; J. J. Worrell, 65, 6-39; A. F. Southerland, 9, 10-90; J. G. Baucus, 169, 13-50; H. F. Ives, 10, 10-90; J. E. Faber, 106, 9-97; W. H. They have been cutting grass already this spring on the Marine and Field Club course, which speaks volumes for its forward condition, and there was a throng on the links, but no regular competition, which was the return from many other nearby courses. The opening at the Marine and Field will be on Saturday with the first handl-Field will be on Saturday with the first handicap, the prize being the gift of J. B. Harris. Oscar Woodward is not back from Pinehurst vet, but the regulars of last season out meluded Leonard Hull Smith, A. H. Golden, S. H. Bonsall, F. E. Hurst and W. M. Pickalay, 3d. The fourth green is again in play, but for the present a ball that gets on the sewer embankment may be dropped back without penalty as from ground under repair. Tom Gourley is again the professional, and he has a number of outsiders taking lessons, as well as beginners among the yachtsmen.

and he has a number of outsiders taking jessons, as well as beginners among the yachtsmen.

The Knollwood Country Club members opened their summer greens, and there was also play at the Ardsley club, but the new holes will not be ready until May. The Westchester Golf Club had a crowd out, and this was true of all the links in New Jersey. The Englewood Golf Club had many visitors who used the old course. Work has been started on the changes to be made for the two championships to be held on the course, the Women's M. G. A. in May and the national amateur in July, and on this account there will be a late start in competitions. The opening handicap will not be until May. The team will open its season on May 18, playing at the Dyker Meadow Golf Club.

There was a crush for the early date on the ten hole practice course at Van Cortlandt Park, laid out around and across the parade ground, and while the regular course presented an inviting stretch of turf the visitors were not allowed to play over it. The sixth putting green, which cost the city more to haid than all the other greens together, is still undisturbed, and it is thought that the police sourse and not waste the original outlay. The putting greens are badly in need of rolling, but it is thought that the public course may be reopened on Saturday. If there is no further postponement, the New York Golf will open its season then with a handicap.

There was a special opening competition at the Forest Hill Golf Cub, Newark, at eighteen holes scratch medal play. It was between candidates for the team, and those who have earned their spurs, except Cory and Taylor, held aloof. Eight qualified for match play and Capt. Heller will present a box of balls to the ultimate winner, as the real interest lay in getting a line for the regular handicaps and in determining the available team material. The summary:

A plucky expedition into the preserves of the Intercollegiate Golf Association, a true bearding of the lion, is to be made next month by the Williams College golf team, champions of the New England Golf Association. The team will be at Princeton on Thursday, May 17, for a match with the university golf team, and on May 19 the Williams boys will play the Yale team at the Garden City Golf Club. Yale holds the championship of its league and to heighten the interest Robert Abbott, intercollegiate individual champion, and E. A. Clapp, who holds a similar title in the New England League, will head the two teams. One outcome of the matches may be a better agreement between the two leagues, and should a union ever be perfected between them it would be a great thing for college golf, to quote a member of the University Club.

In the New England League with Williams are Amherst, Brown and Wesleyan colleges and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, while the intercollegiate consists of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Columbia and, nominally, Cornell. A combination would bring about a tournament truly mational in scope, says the University Club.

FOOTBALL REVISION DONE.

One Man Not to Drop Back on Defence -Other Changes by Committee.

The American intercollegiate football rules committee met at the Murray Hill Hotel again yesterday and completed its work of revising the playing rules. Clearer definitions and more exactness resulted from yesterday's meeting, at which there were present Prof. Dennis, Cornell, chairman; W. T. i eid, Harvard, secretary; Walter Camp, Yale; J. B. Fine, Princeton; W. H. Maurice, Pennsylvania: C. W. Savage, Oberlin; F. K. Hall, Dartmouth: J. J. Babbitt, Haverford; Lieut. Daly, West Point, and F. H. Curtiss, representing Southern colleges.

It was decided that the change tentatively adopted at a previous meeting that one line man must drop back on the defence should not become a law. This was agreed on at the last meeting two weeks ago, but not given out-not the first instance of forgetting on the part of the official news dispenser. The defence remains the same as last year, the committee taking the ground that the side kick and forward pass will spread out the defence sufficiently.

A change of note yesterday was the alteration of the rule regarding the discovery of more than one foul against the same side in the same play. In such case each foul will hereafter have a distinct penalty and the sum of the penalties will be inflicted. Secretary Reid announced the following the sum of the penalties will be inflicted. Secretary Reid announced the following additional changes in the rules:

n a case where a substitute its sent into the game, if such substitute does not ge directly to the referee and report himself before engaging in play his side shall be penaltzed by the loss of fifteen yards.

"The field of play, as technically termed in the rules, is the rectangular space bounded by the goal lines and the side lines.

"A player shall be considered to be on the line of scrimmage if he has both hands or both feet up to or within one foot of this line, or if he has one foot and the opposite hand up to or within one foot of it. He must also stand with both feet outside the cutside foot of the player next to him. But the two men standing on either side of the snapper back note: This rule is intended to prevent any player who is supposed to be on the line of scrimmage from taking a position at such an angle to the line of scrimmages, whether he faces in toward the centre or away from it, as shall enable him the more rapidly to get into the line of scrimmage, whether he faces in toward the centre or away from it, as shall enable him the more rapidly to get into the knee, (Note.—This does not prevent a player from diving under a play, provided he does not trip, as defined above.)

"At the moment when the ball is put in play in a scrimmage, no player of the side which has the ball should be in motion, except that one man of the side having the ball may be in motion toward his own geal.

"No player of those ordinarily occupying the position of centre, guard or tackle—that is, the five middle players of the line—may drop back from the line of scrimmage on the offence, unless he is at least five yards back of the line of scrimmage, when the ball is put in play, and another player takes his place on the line of scrimmage. (Note.—There shall be no shifting of men to evade this rule.)

"It shall be the duty of the referees and the insertion.

STUDENT EASILY EXCELS YOUNG-STER AT 18:2 BILLIARDS.

Makes More Than Twice as Many Points Schaefer Wins From Sutton in a Well Played Matinee Game and Is Tied With Slosson for First Place in Tournament

With an average of 25, excelled in the present tourney only by himself, Jacob Schaefer won yesterday afternoon in the 18:2 balk line tournament for the world's championship. He defeated George Sutton by a score of 500 tg 397, and it was a well played engagement.

Is was Schaefer's third victors. was Schaefer's third victory.

The game drew a crowd which filled Madion Square Garden Concert Hall. There were some folks who got the circus mixed with caroms. Unaware that the circus in the Garden proper was closed for the day, they presented tickets for it at the entrance to the concert hall, where they were informed of their mistake. One man actually formed of their mistake. One man actually bought seats for the billiards, thinking he was going into the circus. There was a sign over the billiard entrance which told plainly over the billiard entrance which told plainly enough what was going on, but all who ran

However, there were enough billiard lovers to fill the hall. Both players being genuine balkliners and skilled at nursing, which is the most attractive sort of billiards, promised a feast for the caromic epicures. Schaefer won the bank and the balls chimed off 30 peals before he sat down. There was nothing real speedy in the game, however, until Schaefer's sixth inning, when he mustered together 131 billiards.

The field on which he manœuvred was the ower half of the table for eighty-five shots. He kept the ball under command with in-frequent driving, and when he did prod the first ball to the other end it came back to well nigh faultless position. Around the nincties the balls were worked up to the other end of the table, then out into the middle, where a couple of hard masses preceded the 100th count. Jake was playing for the line at the 120th shot, but his short drives were played a trifle too easy and he did not get the nurse. Still he went on counting up to 131. He barely missed in trying to drop on to the red via one cushion.

Sutton used "oil" in his next two innings and Schaefer bumped into a couple of blanks. This, with an enrollment of 56 points in the eighth inning by Sutton, made the game more nearly even. The score was 187 to 101 in Schaefer's favor. Jake got the balls together and just ahead of him in the tenth ining, the cue ball frozen to the end rail. He earessingly pushed them down the long balk line for an even 30 points before they broke the spell which his ultra fine skill cast over them. They went their separate ways and a deep, wide, two cushion shot ushered the Wizard to his chair. The run put Schaefer 20 past the 200 mark. Schaefer messed a massé in his eleventh inning and left the balls in position. All Sutton could do was to corral a dozen, his stroke being a shade too weak on a return from the cushion. He, too, presented an invitation to his opponent to fatten in lossition. All Sutton count do was to consider that the more rapidly to get into the more rapidly to get the kine, (Note,—This does not prevent a player from diving under a play, or actimate, no player of the side, and the more rapidly in a scrimmage, no player of the side, except that one man of the side having the ball in put in play in a scrimmage, no player of the side, except that one man of the side having the ball may be in moint oward his own called the side of the side

The evening game was between George Slosson and William Hoppe and drew a crowd that packed the hall. As a contest it was a disappointment, that is, on Hoppe's part. Slosson beat the 181 champion by more than 250 points. He played all around the youngster, whose touch was not attuned to 18:2 effectiveness, who played badly and for whom the balls broke badly. Slosson played a cool, well planned game. He and Schaefer are tied for the first place, each with three victories and no defeats. Hoppe has won two and lost one. Sutton won one and lost two, Cure won eon and lost two, Mcgningstar won one and lost three and Cutler won none and lost three and cotter won none and lost three.

one and lost one. Sutton won one and lost two, Cure won eon and lost two, Mcgningstar won one and lost three and Cutler won none and lost three.

For a starter Slosson made none, and Hoppe jostled the orbs for five, missing a long crawl up the side rail from a bank, Slosson made a corking draw in his second inning. He had to shoot from over the white ball and from that position put on great force to get back to the white. Simultaneously, he drove the red to the other end and back. He had the balls in charcery until the forty-sighth shot, when he had to clout them smartly to send them out of balk. They were sundered by a distance of six feet, but a swinging one cushion shot, admirably executed, restored close companionship. The run was $4 points long and was a beautiful burst of all around billiards. Three gems were made in succession. One was a three cushion shot directly across the table after slicing off the first ball, the second a two cushion count after a follow to the rail, and the third a long trip to the second ball after a short oblique slide from the first ball to the side rail.

Breaking up his good work in the third inning by missing an easy draw shot, Slosson had a total of 101. He left the balls up for Hoppe and the youth started out on his first double figure voyage. Instead of playing the balls foose and wide, as he often does, the boy settled down to tiptop positioning at short range, counting rapidly without moving the balls much. He changed cues in the course of the run, which netted him 56 points. The last was a four cushion ripper, but it raised havoc with position. In his next inning William, the prodigy, thumped the balls right merrily for 26. The twenty-sixth was five cushion twice around skyrocket, which was not particularly hard but very eye-filling. Slosson, in turn, touched off one just as spectacular, but of solitary splendor. Each then drew a zero from safety play. Hoppe's total was 120 to Slosson's 103.

A shot by Hoppe in the seventh inning, was a fine exhibition of force properl got one point for a miss, then let so a sizzling shower of open table fireworks. He concentrated pyrotechnics again in the ensuing session. A follow to the reil came right after a shot that embraced five cushions in its itinerary.

Consecutive innings on each side read 70, 10 and 61 for Slosson, and 26, 20 and 23 for Hoppe, the score for the tenth inning being: Slosson, 247; Hoppe, 164. Slosson was over a hundred ahead when he finished his twelfth inning. Hoppe ran 28 in his twelfth inning, at one time having the balls nicely adjusted on the balk line. He was just a trifle short on a fok low in the centre space and Slosson ran smace into a set-up. The student promptly collected 45, the run illumined by several smart bank shots. As Hoppe missed a follow in his half of the inning, Slosson was on the credit side of the ledger to the tune of 329 to 198.

With great care Slosson stroked the balls in the fourteenth inning, and his reward was a bunch of 53 posies, cushion carroms attractively interspersed with ball to ball carroms. Hoppe ran into one of his inevitable lineups in the same inning. He counted all right, but apread the balls and missed a follow. He made only 9, and the score was 382 to 207 against him.

The fifteenth inning carried Slosson into the fifth hundred. He had made 188 points in four consecutive innings and had a total of 415. Hoppe was 208 behind. Hoppe had a chance to do something in the seventeenth inning, but with the balls in a corner the cue ball was kissed off. It was poor play from the fifteenth inning fruitless, ragged billiards. MANY TRY FOR ROOSEVELT CUP.

Our Yachtsmen Likely to Show Germans Something New in Sonderclasse Yachts.

In yachting this year interest will be divided between the contest for King Edward VII.'s cup and the series of races between boats selected by the Eastern Yacht Club to meet three boats that are to be sent here to represent the Imperial Yacht Club of Germany. This series of races will be sailed off Marblehead in September, and in August trial races the German visitors. The trophy for which they will race has been named the Roosevelt cup, and next year three American built boats a trophy offered by the Imperial Yacht Club It is reported that the Germans are having fifteen boats built to take part in their eliminating trials, and that one of these, the Angela II., is owned by the German Crown Prince Cable reports say that this boat is to be sent across the ocean and that the Prince may come to sail it. It is hardly likely, though, in an international contest of such importance that a boat, even if it is owned by a Crown Prince, will be selected before the trial races are held. If the Prince's boat should prove to be a good one it will add considerably to the interest of the contest to have the heir to the German throne taking part in a series of races be a good one it will add considerably to the interest of the contest to have the heir to the German throne taking part in a series of races on this side of the Atlantic.

On this side fifteen yachts are already being planned and it is probable that before August, when the trials are to be held, there will be more. Yachtsmen all along the coast are interested and the designers are busy making plans and talking things over with those who wish to build. The rule under which these boats are to be constructed is a peculiar one. The length on the water line, beam and draught must not exceed 32 feet. It is the rule that governs the small yachts that race at Kiel and in other German waters, and the boats are called Sonderclasse boats. The rules give designers plenty of leeway and various types are expected. Herreshoft has two of these boats in hand. They are for F. C. Macomber, Jr., and H. M. Sears, two of the beat known of the Eastern amateurs. E. A. Boardman has four designed. These are for Charles F. Adams, 2d. Dr. John L. Bremer, C. H. W. Foster and Charles P. Curtis. Burgess & Packard has one for L. F. Percival and another for H. U. Hayden of the Southern Yacht Club. Vice-Commodore Clark of the Eastern Yacht Club is to have one from designs by Clinton H. Grane. William Gardner has designed one for Trenor L. Park. Cox & Stevens has one for a New York yachtsman. E. W. Hodgson, an amateur, who designed one for freener L. Park. Beginning forward, there is a chain locker, with room for electric power, capstan, deck control. Next comes the forecastle, equipped with two Pullman berths, toilet and lavatory, finished in oak, with large ports for light and ventilation. The owner's quarters are forward, enclosed with plate glass windows and Venetian blinds. The woodwork is in African mahogany, with eggshell finish. Two extra wide standard Pullman berths are provided, with deep drawers underneath. A large solid mahogany dresser, with deep and wide drawers and mirror, adds to the finish of this compartment. A private bath adjoins the owner's saloon, with porcelain tub, shower bath, porcelain basins and toilet fixtures, with nickel and porcelain fittings. The sides of the lavatory will be finished in white enamel up to the wainscotting, with mahogany panelling above, and porcelain flooring. A large full length and extra deep closet adjoins the lavatory for the owner's use. Side deeks surround the cabin houses, on which you enter in leaving the owner's quarters.

JAPANESE MIDDIE BEATEN.

Burford Throws the Foreigner in Naval Academy Wrestling Bout. ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 14 .- In the gymnastic tournament which took place this evening at the Naval Academy the greatest interest centred in the middleweight wrestling championship in which Isahi Kitagaki, a Japanese midshipman, and Robert A. Burford, a Floridan, were opponents. Kitagaki won the first fall, but succumbed to the superior strength and weight of the American in the other two. The result was popular, but was accepted in utmost good nature by Kitagaki.
All of the other bouts in boxing and wrestling were well contested and the gymnastic work was the best ever seen here. Winners in each event were awarded the Naval Aca-demy letters. The results:

DEAD HEAT IN JUMPING RACE.

JUDGES CANNOT SEPARATE PHAN-TOM AND THISTLEDALE.

Miller Rides Three Winners and Trainer Garth Captures Two Stakes With Orphan Lad and Pater-Hunters' Steeple chase for T. Hitchcock, Jr.'s, Garrett.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The spring meeting at Bennings wound up to-day with a number of notable incidents. Jockey Miller was again in evidence with three winners. Phantom and Thistledale ran a dead heat in the handicap steeplechase. W. Garth sent two successful horses to the post, winning the Jesse Brown cup with Orphan Lad and the second Bennings Handicap with Pater. Four favorites got the money and a large crowd Thistledale was a 7 to 5 second choice and Phantom was an 11 to 10 favorite in the fifth event, over the jumps. They had the race between them all the way and at the wire the judges could not separate them. The purse and all bets were cut in two. Saltine purse and all bets were cut in two. Saltine, 10 to 1, was 100 lengths behind the successful pair. The Jesse Brown cup was a half mile sprint for two-year-olds. Orphan Lad, one of the best two-year-olds of the meeting, was a hot favorite at 4 to 5. Although he was all taugled up at the start he was the class and Miller got him home a winner by a length, with Woodline, 7 to 1, having a cinch on the place. Mammymoo, a 20 to 1 shot, nosed Town Topics out of third money. Miller did not have to exert himself on Pater, 7 to 10 favorite, who made all the running in the Bennings Handicap and romped to the wire four lengths in front of Bobble Kean, 7 to 1, also trained by Garth. The latter finished strong and beat The Clown, 3 to 1, a length and a half for the place. Miller took the first event at seven furlongs with Palora, a 6 to 1 shot, who showed the way from the barrier and beat Nonsense, the favorite, by a length and a half. The latter beat Caronal, 3 to 2, by half a length.

T. Hitchcock, Jr's, Garrett, 3 to 1, had no trouble in capturing the Spring Hunters' steeplechase from Dunseverrick, 7 to 10, the former breezing from start to finish. J. Grant Lyman's Grand Duchess, 8 to 5 favorite, was the leader at all times in the last race, at a mile and forty yards, but she had to be hard driven to stall off Setauket at the end. The summaries:

Association Football.

At 145th street and Lenox avenue the New York Thistles played their last game in the Metropolitan Association Football League championship series yesterday afternoon, defeating the champion Caledonians by the score of 3 goals to 1 Tait of the Caledonians was the first to tally, but the score was quickly qualized by Dudgeon, inside left for the Thistles. The same player, who was in splendid form, scored twice more in the sec-

Thistles. The same player, who was in splendid form, scored twice more in the second half, the champions failing to get through again. Burgess played a great defensive game for the Thistles, saving one particularly hard try from a penalty. The game was fast throughout.

After a grand struggle for supremacy in the final round of the New York Amateur Football League's "cup tie" series, contested at the Cove, West New Brighton, the Camerons of this city divided the honors with the Staten Island Football Club yesterday afternoon, each side scoring one goal, in consequence of which another game to decide the championship must be played at the same place next Saturday. Both goals were tallied in the first half, Hastings getting the ball through for the Camerons very soon after the start. Before half time Van Laer by a brilliant run down the greater part of the field and by dodging the backs and halfbacks in great style finally succeeded in getting in a high shot that beat the Staten Island goal keeper. There was no scoring in the second half. Capt. Smith of the Island team worked like a Trojan the entire game. Van der Zee played his position brillianty and the Staten Island forwards were effective in combination work. For the visitors Pearson and Saunders, the backs, showed up splendidly, while Slater, Chapman and Goodman were all seen to good advantage.

Columbia's soc er players spent the afternoon at Greenfield Park, Flushing, yeaterday, playing a tie game with the Freebooters of that place, the high wind interfering appreciably with an exposition of the finer points of the game. Neither side scored during the entire game. The score: Columbia, 9; Freebooters, 0.

Stevens Institute's lacrosse team defeated the New York Lacrosse Club yesterday afternoon at the St. George Cricket Grounds by the score of 4 to 2. The game was very closely contested throughout. All through the first half the ball travelled rapidly from one end of the field to the other, and although several shots were tried at both goals the first goal was made about five minutes from the end of the balf by Hilz Rok for the Lacrosse Club. Three minutes later Davis caged the ball for Stevens, thereby tying the score for the first period.

During the second half the play continued fast and after three minutes a goal was made by the clubmen. Soon after this Stevens made another shot, and then some very pretty work was done by the Stevens attack.
Shot after shot was made, and finally one got in, and then just before the half closed.
Wiley once more scored for the bome team. the New York Lacrosse Club yesterday after-
